REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

To the Board of Trustees of the Wolfeboro Town Library,

Gentlemen:

The twentieth annual report of the librarian is herewith presented.

The work of a library as of other institutions is somewhat routine, and a report can vary but little from year to year. Ours has grown since Mr. A. F. Estabrook in 1890 gave $1000 to buy the first books for the Brewster library and the State in 1900 gave $100 as a nucleus for the Town library.

It may interest some to learn what our present resources are. In the reading room as one enters may be found 40 of the leading periodicals. Of These The American, Current Opinion, Etude, Granite State News, Photo Era, and those that are the organ of any church or society are contributed. With the exception of current numbers, magazines are circulated the same as books and the standard ones kept on file. An index to magazine articles makes these files valuable for reference material.

The children's room contains over 1500 books for general circulation and 3 sets of encyclopedias. On the two tables especially for children may be found 8 of the best juvenile magazines. Is it any wonder that children swarm at the library on a stormy winter afternoon. A small stack adjacent to this room is devoted to books for the Town schools, and a companion stack in the rear to music and books about music.

The fiction stacks contain about 1700 books, and there are more on the second floor. These with the non-fiction department, reference books and bound periodicals make a total of fully 8000 volumes in the two libraries. We are fast approaching the 10,000 volumes which will give ours a right to be called a large library. A careful inventory should be taken within a year.

The circulation for the past year has been 19,975 books, of these classes, fiction 11,282, non-fiction 3515, children's books 5178. The largest daily circulation was 183, the smallest 17. In the two libraries 329 books were accessioned, 101 of which were contributed.

In the early fall, Miss Hobart, secretary of the State Library Commission, spent two days here to assist in the cataloging and make a general survey of the work. Her suggestions have proved most helpful.

Both the librarian and assistant attended the summer school for librarians at Durham, N. H.

Beginning with September, the opening hour was changed from 3 o'clock to 2 o'clock P. M. This gives us needed time for keeping up the work, and enables those who wish to come to the library before the rush at the close of the schools.

The following is an account of the money taken in at the desk during the year:

RECEIPTS

Balance Feb. 1, 1924	$ 4 68
Books damaged and lost	6 75
Duplicate pay books during July and August	16 70
Gift for music	5 00
For typewriter	5 00
Fines on overdue books	104 93
	<hr/>
	$143 06

EXPENDITURES

Music	5 40
Rebinding	8 75
Stationery and postage	18 39
Supplies	10 77
Balance Feb. 1, 1925	9 17
	$143 06

The librarian would express appreciation of the gifts received during the year, without which the library would be much less effective. She would also thank the friends, patrons, and Trustees for their cordial support of her work.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH BREWSTER, Librarian.

Wolfeboro, N. H., Feb. 1, 1925.
